LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS WIN UM SCHOLARSHIPS

MISSOULA --

Two Montana high school seniors are among 28 students who recently received 1990-91 Erasmus Scholarships at the University of Montana.

They are Carrie Brockman of Philipsburg's Granite High School and Julie Tranmer of Boulder's Jefferson High School. Brockman plans to major in foreign languages and Tranmer in philosophy. Both will attend UM full time in the fall.

The scholarships, awarded by the philosophy department to undergraduate and graduate students, are worth between $500 and $4,000. The awards are given to full-time UM students majoring in English, environmental studies, foreign languages and literatures, history, law, philosophy, political science or religious studies or in interdisciplinary studies linked to one of those majors.

To be eligible, students must have used their studies to achieve humanitarian goals, including social service work and political or environmental activism.

Students who earn the scholarships may also be eligible for teaching assistantships funded by the Erasmus Trust.
